

Social News From Washington

(By C. S. ALBERT.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—Col. Me. and Mrs. Gardener, who will be hosts at the presidio for the Secretary of War, and Mrs. Simson during their stay in San Francisco, at a large garden party, have two small daughters, Barendina and Martha. Barendina is named for Col. Gardener's mother and grandmother and is a much traveled young lady. She has traveled over 30,000 miles with her parents, as Col. Gardener has been ordered to various stations in the last decade. He has lived in the Philippine Islands, Japan, St. Paul, Detroit, Omaha, Portland and Fort Seward, Alaska. Martha was named after Mrs. Gardener's mother, and was the first American child born on the island of Samar. She also has traveled many miles.

Mrs. L. Z. Leiter sailed from Boston last Tuesday and will spend several months abroad with her daughters, Mrs. Colin Campbell and Lady Suffolk. She has been put in deep mourning by the recent death of her sister, the late Mrs. Thompson, of Chicago, and it is not likely, for that reason, that she will bring back with her the young daughters of Lord Curzon. She had expected to have these granddaughters spend the winter with her for the first time in the home from which their mother the late Lady Curzon, went as a bride.

Mrs. Samuel D. Minster and daughter Doris of the Laclede have returned after summering at Sea Cliff, L. I.

Count Moltke, the new Danish minister to Berlin, recently transferred from this city, has arrived at the German capital with his wife and young son. The count will take formal charge of the Danish legation in October, succeeding the venerable Count von Hermann-Lindencrone, who represented Denmark in Washington during the Hayes administration. His wife, too, was an American and also a Bostonian like the Countess Moltke, a well known writer of European diplomatic reminiscences and for a long time leader in Berlin court society.

Senator Fletcher left Tuesday for Florida. Mrs. Fletcher and Miss Fletcher will remain here until the 1st of October, before joining the senator at their southern home for two months.

The Mexican ambassador and Mme. Calero, who have been at Dark Bay, Me., for several weeks, returned to New York Thursday and sailed for Mexico, where they will remain for two months. The first secretary, Signor de la Cueva, will be charged with affairs during the absence of the ambassador.

Miss Gertrude Mulhausen of Baltimore is the guest of Miss Edna Oppenheimer of Kalorama road.

Mrs. Grace Parker left Washington last week for Atlantic City, where she will spend a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Goodacer and family have returned to their home on University street, after an absence of three months which was spent at their cottage at Colonial Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodland, who have been summering at Cleveland Park, have returned to this city and are located on R. street.

The Mexican minister to Cuba, Senor Godoy, who, with his family, is spending several months in New York, was among the visitors to Washington during the week. Mr. Albert Godoy, an attaché of the Mexican embassy here, is spending the week end with his parents in New York.

Miss Gretchen Hood, who has been spending the month of August at Ostend, the Belgian seaside resort, is now stopping with some Washington friends in Paris, planning to resume her vocal musical studies next winter, either in the French capital or in Brussels.

Mrs. S. E. Rabe and Miss Caroline Rabe have returned from New Haven, Conn., where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Clark at their summer home in Woodmont.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Josephine Bernadette O'Connell of Washington and Mr. James J. M. O'Leary of Wheeling, W. Va.

The bride-elect is the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David O'Connell, and has taken part in local amateur theatrical productions. Mr. O'Leary was honor graduate at George Washington University Law School in 1911, winning first prize, and representing the Senior Debating Society in the annual debate. He is connected with the interstate commerce commission. The marriage will occur in the near future.

Mrs. Hines, wife of Capt. Frank Hines, U. S. A., is in Salt Lake, Utah, with her children, where they spent the summer with her own and her husband's relatives, but she will leave there about the middle of the month to join Capt. Hines in Washington, where he is now a member of the staff of Gen. Ayleshire.

The American ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid will shortly return from Harrogate, the spa of Yorkshire, England, where many other Americans have been also during the past month. While there the Reids occupied Park House, a beautiful residence on the outskirts, and the stay there greatly benefited Mr. Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid will be in the country for the late autumn.

COMPOUNDING A FRUIT SALAD

Nothing but the best fruit in perfect condition should be allowed to enter the salad bowl. A salad, strictly, means something prepared with "sel," or salt. It is usually applied to dishes of herbs or vegetables, served with salt and condiments of various kinds, sharpened with vinegar. But a fruit salad answers to its name valiantly enough, and deserves it every whit as much as any salad of herbs. For the fruit flesh in itself contains salts of every kind, made up of natural compounds of acids are present in variety. Therefore the name is no anomaly. It is a sweet salad, because sugar is used but even in the acid, herb salads, sugar is used in the dressing.

The fruits, whole or sliced according to their character, must be piled up in layers, the kinds being judiciously chosen, so that drier varieties alternate with juicy ones, allowing their juice to percolate through the other fruits. In some cases this is all that is necessary to provide an excellent fruit salad, with the exception of fine sugar sprinkled on each layer, the whole being arranged in the dish in which it is to be served, and left in a cool place for some hours before-hand, so that the juices and flavors may be thoroughly blended.

Orange, banana and apple (very thinly sliced) salad is excellent, as is also orange, banana and pineapple (canned or fresh). The flavor in any of these salads may be improved by rubbing on the rind of a lemon one or two lumps of sugar, crushing these and using them with the powdered sugar, says the Pictorial Review. Bananas combine well with any kind of juicy fruit, and the following may be recommended: bananas and apricots, both sliced, with a little chopped pineapple; bananas and stoned cherries with lemon flavored sugar; bananas and raspberries, with or without some red currants; bananas and strawberries, divided in halves or quarters if very large. A greater number of fruits may be combined successfully, such as bananas, stoned cherries, sliced pineapple, melon, peaches, apricots, stoned and skinned grapes, apples and pears in thin slices. Red currants and strawberries, red and white currants and red raspberries mix well with thinly cut slices of ripe apples, or with the ever useful banana.

Lemon juice helps every fruit salad. Strawberries with the addition of lemon juice are delicious. Many who have once tested this method of treating strawberries have never returned to the familiar cream. Oranges and strawberries, cherries should be excluded. Pineapple should be used sparingly where there are other fruits forming a part of a compound, as its strong flavor is apt to predominate and overpower that of the other ingredients—always a bad feature where a pleasant blend is the object to be attained.

JEWS BEST LIFE RISKS, POOREST ARE METHODISTS

Religious Fervor Is Factor in Insurance Business, Convention Official Says

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 6.—A novel classification of life insurance risks, presented to the American Life Convention in session here, was causing considerable discussion today. The classification was made in an address to the convention by Dr. E. J. Sprattling of Atlanta, Ga., official statistician and psychologist of the organization.

"The Jew," said Dr. Sprattling, "is the best risk in the country. Religion plays an important part in the estimating of the degree of risk on insurance policies and the Jewish religion has in it less of fervor and excitement and is more conducive to natural living than any other. The Catholic religion, more ritualistic than the Protestant, gives its devotees less worry and makes them the second best risks."

"Among Protestants, Methodists are the poorest risks. Hourly inventories of their sins, and a real hell of fire and brimstone worries them and affects their digestion."

Society Women Up in Arms.
Chicago society women were up in arms today over the assertion of the members of the American Life Association that society women are the poorest life insurance risks, on account of their habits of living. All repudiated the stand of the insurance men and "panned" President P. D. Gold, Jr., who made the assertion.

"Why, the idea," said Mrs. Herman Butler of Winnetka. "Women of the higher class will naturally remain healthy. They must preserve their health in return for the privilege of living leisurely."

Mrs. Arthur Aldis declared the society woman's education made her a better risk. "We know more of the principles of right living than persons of a humbler strata," she said.

"Bosh," was the comment of Mrs. H. S. Robbins of Lake Forest.

FLOW OF CAPITAL

Some of the States, especially in the South, are trying to force the insurance companies which have very large amounts of invested capital as reserves to meet payments on maturing policies to invest the money collected in the State in some of that State's enterprises. Opposition is made by the big companies to any such legislation. Their spokesmen are presenting arguments against this attempted artificial control of capital.

What they say may or may not impress Legislatures anxious to meet the wishes of a people with big plans for growth and a limited amount of money to carry them out. But they do contain sound comment on the character of capital and its habits.

The investor, whether of $500 or of millions in the case of the big insurance companies, has certain problems to meet. He is not a patriot—wherever he finds the greatest return and safety, there his funds will go for investment. Here is a question from the argument made by an insurance man in South Carolina not long ago:

"People will do well to remember that the problem of attracting capital is largely the problem of marketing securities. The marketing of securities is no more nor less than the borrowing of money, as in a general sense securities are mere obligations to pay money in the future. In offering securities for sale, therefore, it is the seller who should be offering the inducements. Conditions must be created which make most certain that the promises to pay will surely be kept, and that the government having jurisdiction will not penalize by unjust laws the holders of these promises."

"Capital is passive. It must be sought and shown. It will go where it believes it will receive the best treatment. A community, therefore, desiring to sell its promises to pay and thus to secure capital for its development should proceed after the fashion of the shrewd merchant who knows that to secure and hold customers he must sell only meritorious goods and by considerate treatment keep his customers satisfied."

Ordering capital to come is, as yet, a poor way to get it. Capital is self-interested, and it must continue to consider its chance of growing above everything else. Only so long as it does that will it remain capital.

MANGANESE DISCOVERIES IN PHILIPPINES

According to the Bureau of Science at Manila manganese ore has been discovered in the Philippines in considerable quantities, and it seemed possible to develop the industry, but when the matter was looked into it appeared that an export wharfage charge exists on all kinds of ore. If the ore were taken in ballast to Japan, this charge would not be serious, but if it were shipped to the west coast of America, the freight rate would reduce profits to the vanishing point. The same is true in regard to iron ore. A geologist from Japan in the employ of the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, examined the iron deposits on a small island in Mambulao Bay in Ambos Camarines where iron ore occurs, but the royalty to be paid to the persons owning the land, and the export dues, would leave little for the expenses of mining and the profit. It is recommended that as soon as possible the law be altered, remitting these export dues.

Hundreds of Roman candles were set off under the trees of Topeka, Kansas, in an effort to rid the city of a plague of blackbirds.
